OWEGO -- Cliff Halliday, chief mechanic for Owego-Apalachin Central School District, has been named School Bus Technician of the Year by the New York Association for Pupil Transportation.

The award was established to recognize a school bus technician who exemplifies the characteristics of excellence and quality, the association said.

Halliday began work for the O-A district in 1995 as a bus mechanic and became a bus technician in 2004. Prior to being with O-A, he was a mechanic and chief mechanic for 17 years for a school in Southern California. Before that, he worked for the Marine Corps transportation department.
